Cory Ballis

Born in the Central Valley of California in 1984, Cory has flown rather than walked thru life since birth. Born into a family of accomplished artists he was lucky to be raised in an environment surrounded by art. No skill was under appreciated or under encouraged. In 2005, he was lucky enough to find his true passion as an elective, Blown Glass. He did his primary schooling at California State University of Fresno, earning a degree in Business Marketing.

Since the first time holding a blow pipe and gathering a small bit of glass, Cory knew he had found what he needed to do in life. In 2009 he was hired by Bob Kliss at Kliszewski Glass as an assistant glass blower; it was there he embarked on his professional glass blowing career. Cory worked diligently to improve his skills and build his own glass studio. His charisma and drive has touched many and accomplished much.

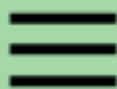

In 2013, Cory attended Pilchuck Glass School and took a career changing course, 3M taught by Dick Marquis, Nick Mount, and Dante Marioni. This class was so inspirational and launched many new thoughts and ideas. On his birthday, May 4 th 2014, Cory opened Ballis Glass Studio. It started on his back
